Eph 4:1–6

Jn 6:1–15

At the ranch where my mother lived in her adolescence, sheep wandered through pastures of grass and shrubs. When it came time to gather them into the corral at night, the ranch hands would get the dogs out and set them to work running around and behind the sheep to keep them together while the hands drove them in the right direction. Occasionally a young lamb or an injured ewe would fall, and the man closest would pick the animal up with a tenderness that seemed out of character with callouses and sunburned, weathered skin. When we visited the ranch, I remember vividly the look and smell of the sheep and that the ranch hands thought they were dumb.

While the sheep may not have been the smartest of animals, they knew the men and the promise of a safe pen and water at the end of the hot day undoubtedly made the job easier. From my mother's stories, I remember most the way she described the shearers. They did not lead the sheep so much as walk with or behind them. They became part of the procession, rather than the head of it. This kept the sheep calm and moved them faster. When Jesus looked at the crowd, he saw a people that needed someone to walk with them and show them the way to go. They needed someone occasionally to go behind them to pick up the strays and the wounded and carry them tenderly home. This is what Jesus does for us. In his compassion, he brings us to pasture and, at the end, he gathers all people into his one flock and guides them home.

From Father Khoa's Desk...

Dear Parishioners and Friends,

“I will appoint shepherds for them who will shepherd them so that they need no longer fear and tremble; and none shall be missing, says the LORD.”

The world greatly lacks healthy leadership. Leaders are meant to provide principled leadership with vision, integrity, honor, dedication, self-sacrifice and positive attitude. Some of the most critical leaders are parents and clergy. We are placed by God in a position to reflect him to those around us. Parents are the first educators and formators of their children in the ways of faith. Children are pilgrims in the home who are fed and nurtured building the character and tools that prepares them for their calling in life. Clergy and parents are called to engage the Good Shepherd in daily dialogue so we might be good shepherds in the eyes of the Lord.

To be a good shepherd, today's Gospel account addresses: finding balance in one's life between action and rest, between work and play, between service and prayer, between what is and what is yet to be with God's grace. Even Jesus had to say to the apostles from time to time, “Come away by yourselves to a deserted place and rest a while.” Most of us, especially those very active and busy in trying to be agents of change in our community, do not do that very well in our culture. Too often the time we spend in rest, relaxation, and prayer is filled with our drivenness or anxiety that drains us of the energy we need to be workers in God's kingdom. There is also another temptation that pulls us down. Many of us want instant success and we want to see concrete results in our lifetime. But the fact remains that the world changes very slowly and every inhabitant matures at an imperceptible pace as well. Thus, our call to action in God's kingdom must be tempered and guided by a deep faith and trust in God's plan. Each must be open enough to the goodness of all created life and prudent enough to concentrate on accomplishing that which is possible, even if it does not seem like very much. That is the shepherd role of each of God's servants and that is the way the kingdom will come about.

Have a great week! May God bless all of us!

...Fr. Khoa

† With Sympathy †

Father Khoa and the community of St. Ann and Our Lady of Chartres Parish extend their deepest sympathy to the family of Douglas Moran, who passed away. May he rest in Eternal Glory and may his loved ones receive God's consolation and peace. Please keep Douglas and his family in your prayers.

Flower Donation: The Flower for this week is donated by Carolyn Brewer for John Wayne. Thank you.

Project Hope and Compassion: This week from July 18 to 26, there will be a big group of 150 students coming from Boston to help the people in our area to rebuild. We need volunteers to help us to serve dinner for 150 students. There is a sign-up sheet in the back of the church.

Lennell King is the coordinator for PHC this summer. For more information, please contact Lennell King. Thank you.

We also have penance service for these students on this Wednesday July 22 from 6:30pm until it's over. You are encouraged to participate with them.
