FIFTH SUNDAY OF EASTER

Paul's name in Hebrew is Saul. When Paul first visited the Jerusalem church after his conversion, the members were afraid of him. Barnabas then told them about Paul's conversion. This is followed by Paul and Barnabas traveling and evangelizing together as we read in the first reading today. In today's gospel reading, we revert to Jesus' speech at the Last Supper where he admonishes his disciples to teach and have love for all people. Love, according to philosophers, means seeking the good of the individual that is loved. Love of all is the distinctive virtue of Christians.
