2. Keep busy with your own affairs and not those of others.
3. Avoid curiosity.
(refrain from wanting to know things that are no one of your business)
4. Do not interfere in the affairs of others.
5. Accept small irritations with good humor.
6. Do not dwell on the faults of others.
7. Accept censures even if unmerited.
8. Give in to the will of others.
9. Accept insults and injuries.
10. Accept contempt, being forgotten and disregarded.
11. Be courteous and delicate even when provoked by someone.
12. Do not seek to be admired and loved.
13. Do not protect yourself behind your own dignity.

Lenten Season Begins:

“Believing oneself to be nothing; because the Lord is great, but He is well-leased only with the humble; He always opposes the proud.”

St. Faustina, Divine Mercy in My Soul

Humility – is not thinking less of yourself,

It is thinking of yourself, Less.

Lent is the perfect opportunity to reflect on and strive to develop humility.

“Learn from me, for I am meek and humble of heart” Luke 11:29. Jesus asks us to be like Him, to learn from Him. The two aspects of His character that He specifically mentions for us to imitate are His meekness and humility.

Humility makes us acceptable to God, and meekness makes us acceptable to men. Jesus Christ is the ultimate definition of humility. Humility is a virtue.

Humility is also defined by St. Augustine - “Humility is the foundation of all the other virtues, hence, in the soul, in which this virtue does not exist there cannot be any other virtue except in mere appearance.”

- Prayer is the humility of the man who acknowledges his profound wretchedness and the greatness of God.
- Faith is the humility of the mind which renounces its own judgement and surrenders to the verdict and authority of the church.
- Obedience is the humility of the will which subjects itself to the will of another, for God’s sake.
- Chastity is the humility of the flesh, which subjects itself to the spirit.
- Exterior mortification is the humility of the senses.
- Penance is the humility of all the passions, immolated to the Lord.
- Humility is truth on the road of the ascetic struggle.

Lent is the perfect time to strive toward our humility. We should be oriented not just towards doing for the sake of doing, but developing good and lasting spiritual habits that make us holier, and that continue after the Lenten season.
