

A Time to Ponder

In the time when monks lived in the Egyptian desert, One day a certain monk committed what was considered to be a serious fault, and the elders assembled to pass judgements on him. They sent for their abbot to join them.

They sent him a message saying, 'come, the community is waiting for you'. So the abbot arose and started off.

He took with him an old basket which was full of holes. Filling it with sand he carried it behind him. Naturally, as he went along, he left a trail of sand in his wake.

The elders came out to meet him and asked him what he meant by this? He replied: "My sins are running out behind me. Everywhere I go I leave a trail of faults behind me, only most of the time I don't see them myself. Today, you want me to sit in judgement of my brother."

On hearing this, the elders were ashamed. They abandoned the trial and pardoned their brother.
